CONTENTS FOR NOS. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6.

January.—No. 1.

ART. I.—The Philosophy of Life: Its Functions, and their rationale, or causes, as developed by Phrenology, Physiology, and Magnetism. No. I. - - - 1

ART. II.—Woman.—Her character, influence, sphere, and consequent duties and education. No. I. - - 8

ART. III.—The Philosophy of Phrenology; including the analysis of the faculties, and the location of the organs, 13 to 18

ART. IV.—Phrenological Facts.—Communications, - - 18

Miscellaneous Articles. 24

February.—No. 2.

ART. I.—Mentality, as connected with Organization; or, as influenced and indicated by Physiological Conditions. No. I. - - - - 33

ART. II.—The Philosophy of Phren.; including the analysis of the faculties, and the location of their organs. No. 2. 45

ART. III.—The Philosophy of Life: Its Functions, and their rationale, or causes, &c., &c. - - - - - 45

ART. IV.—Phrenological Facts, communicated by B. J. Gray. 51

ART. V.—The Law of Love, a far more effectual preventive of Crime than punitive measures, &c. - - - 54

Miscellaneous Articles. - - - - - - - - 61

March.—No. 3.

ART. I.—The Physiology, Phrenology, and Natural History, of the Orang Outang, or Chimpanze. - - - 65

ART. II.—Progression a law of Nature; its application, &c. 73

ART. III.—Phrenological Facts, communicated by B. J. Gray. 77

ART. IV.—The Law of Love, &c. - - - - - 81

ART. V.—Mentality as connected with Organization, &c. - 83

ART. VI.—Adhesiveness, or Association, considered, &c. - 89

April.—No. 4.

ART. I.—Answer to Dr. Spofford, - - - - 97

ART. II.—Precocity—its evils and their remedy, - 107

ART. III.—The Physiology and Natural History of the Orang Outang, or Chimpanze, illustrated with engravings, 111

ART. IV.—The Phrenological Developments of Dr. Samuel Thompson, Author of the Thompsonian System, - 118

May.—No. 5.

ART. I.—The Philosophy of Life; its Functions, and their Rationale, or Causes, as developed by Phrenology, Physiology, and Magnetism. No. 3. - - 129

ART II.—Common Sense preferable to Book-Learning, - 135

ART. III.—Analysis of Mirthfulness, and its adaptation to Man's requisition for Amusement, May-days and Holy-days included. - - - - - 137

ART. IV.—Progression a Law of Nature: Its application to Human Improvement, collective and individual. No. 2. 143

ART. V.—The Intellectual and Moral Faculties Innate,—the same in kind in all, but differing in degree, - 147

June.—No. 6

ART. I.—Progression a law of Nature: its application to human improvement, collective and individual. No. 3. 161

ART. II.—Mesmerism applied to the cure of disease. No. 1. Harriet Martineau's Letters, with Notes by the Editor. Letter 1. - - - - - - - 167

ART. III.—Case of Vision-seeing, from the Ed. Phren. Jour. 173

ART. IV.—The Law of Kindness, &c. - - - - 175

ART. V.—Mirthfulness; its adaptation to Man's amusement, &c. 177

77098

CONTENTS FOR NOS. 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12.

July.—No. 7.

ART. I.—Progression a Law of Nature: Its application to Human Improvement, collective and individual. No. III. 225
ART. II.—Analysis, Location, Adaptation and Use of Imitation, - 230
ART. III.—Magnetism applied to the Cure of Disease.—No. 2. - 237
ART. IV.—The Phrenological and Physiological Organization and Character of General Andrew Jackson, with an Engraving. - - - - - - - 248
Miscellaneous Articles. - - - - - - - 252

August.—No. 8.

ART. I.—Mentality, as connected with Organization, &c. No. 3. 257
ART. II.—Phrenolog'l developments and character of Jas. Eager, with cuts, - - - - - - - - 263
ART. III.—The Law of Love, &c. Facts for illustrating this law. 269
ART. IV.—The Water-Cure, Bathing included. - - - - 273
Miscellaneous Articles, - - - - - - - 281

September.—No. 9.

ART. I.—Progression a Law of Nature: its application, &c. No. V. 289
ART. II.—Magnetism applied to the Cure of Disease.—No. 4. - 295
ART. III.—Continuity: its Location, Analysis, and the Philosophy of its Location. By B. J. Gray. - - 298
ART. IV.—Magnetic Developments. - - - - 304
Miscellaneous Articles. - - - - - 311

October.—No. 10.

ART. I.—Mentality as connected with organization; or, as influenced and indicated by Physiological Conditions. No. IV. - - - - - - - 321
ART. III.—The Phrenological Developments of Dr. Justus Liebig. 329
ART. III.—Magnetism applied to the Cure of Disease, concluded. 336
Miscellaneous Articles. - - - - - - - 340

November.—No. 11.

ART. I. Mentality as connected with organization; or, as influenced and indicated by Physiological Conditions. No. V. - - - - - - - 353
ART. II.—The Philosophy of Life: Its Functions, and their Rationale, or Causes, as developed by Phrenology, Physiology, and Magnetism. No. IV. - - 361
ART. III.—Woman. Her Character, Influence, Sphere, and Consequent Duties and Education. No. II. - 369
Miscellaneous Articles. - - - - - - - 373

December.—No. 12.

ART. I. The Phrenological Developments and Character of Harrahwaukay, a New-Zealand Chief, from the Bay of Islands; with an Engraving. - - - 385
ART. II.—The Philosophy of Life: Its Functions, and their Rationale, or Causes, &c. No. V. - - - - 392
ART. III.—Progression a Law of Nature: Its application to Human Improvement, collective and individual. No. VI. 395
ART. IV. The Law of Love a far more effectual Preventive of Crime than Punitive Measures, - - - 400
MISCELLANY.—Valedictory; Notices of New Publications; Graham's Journal of Health; The Cold Water Cure; Essays on Human Rights; The Philosophy of the Water Cure; The Edinburgh Phrenological Journal; 404